6. Documents subject to this Protective Order may be used at trial subject to any restrictions which the court determines are appropriate at the time of trial.

7. Prior to delivery of any documents subject to this Protective Order to any of the parties or to experts or consultants retained by any of the parties, counsel delivering such documents shall provide a copy of this Protective Order to the party receiving the documents.

8. 9. At the conclusion of this matter, counsel for all parties shall return all copies of the documents subject to this Protective Order to counsel for the party producing them with the exception of those documents that are altered by counsel and are subject to the attorney work-product doctrine, which shall be destroyed in such a manner as the contents of the documents subject to the protective order are illegible.
